

Q: What Skills Does FCCLA Emphasize?

FCCLA emphasizes the importance of taking part in the community and developing practical skills. The various STAR competitions in this organization also offer public speaking and presentation skills, and members can also develop work ethic skills for future jobs and simply for everyday life.

Why is FACS Important?

Family and Consumer Sciences is a subject that digs deep into issues affecting not only individuals, but also families and the community. FACS students learn various skills that can aid them for the rest of their life, with prominent examples of nutrition and childcare.

At Oconee County High School, the Early Childhood Education pathway is provided as part of Family and Consumer Sciences, with FCCLA serving as the FACS organization of the school.

FCCLA is a career technical student organization with family as its primary focus.

FCCLA boosts career exploration in FACS, which includes pathways in human services, hospitality and tourism, education and training, and even visual arts and design.

FCCLA Statistics

- Over 75 years of existence
- Over 182,000 high school and middle school members
- 5,253 chapters across 50 state associations
- More than 30 STAR events to choose from
- 8 National Programs to engage in

Oconee County High School
FCCLA Chapter
Watkinsville, GA

Our Chapter

- The OCHS FCCLA Chapter has 33 members with 10 competing in STAR events
- OCHS FCCLA members have placed in the top five at Nationals in recent years

Quotes From Our Members

“My favorite part of FCCLA is STAR events and competing. It has taught me time management.”

-Mariah Jaeck, 11th grader

“I joined FCCLA thinking it was just gonna be an easy club, and I would learn to be a teacher, but it is so much more than that. The various learning possibilities in this organization are endless!”

-Chloe Graham, FCCLA Officer

